Back again: Ignatian Way to Rome.

Repeat the Ignatian Way? A pilgrim from Singapore thought twice. Here is her story full of personal experience and tips for pilgrims who want to repeat it again.

«In life, we sometimes have painful experiences that we say we don't want to repeat, but then do so anyway. My mother told me that when she gave birth to my elder sister (her first child), it was so painful that she said to herself, "Never again!". But then she had me anyway, just over a year later. I'd like to believe that she did not live to regret it.

I enjoy hiking, and fondly remember my Camino de Santiago and my first outing of the Camino Ignaciano. But after a tough hiking tour in the Alps in 2022...»

One month pilgrimage with Ignatian Volunteer Corps, by Christine Eberly.

Dear pilgrims! Let's see if I can keep track of our pilgrimage: the 25th anniversary of the Ignatian Volunteer Corps, USA, October 2022.

Day One was in Loyola. We went to the house of Íñigo of Loyola and we visited the wonderful basilica, the small hermitage of Olatz, the parish with the baptismal font of Ignatius and the Magdalena Hostel. Lunch was at the old Agustinian Convent. That was the first day, trying to be walking with the shoes of the adolescent Íñigo. We get in touch with...

A Camino Bike Experience, by

Trent Bolling, U.S.A.

My wife and I completed the entire Camino via eBike. We started October 1 at Loyola and finished October 11 in Manresa. Yes, ten days is too short for a full spiritual journey with lots of time to reflect. That said, though we did have a full day in Loyola to start and learn and reflect about Ignatius.

We were able to stop in all 27 stages, and even got a stamp in 26 of them. For one we just had bad timing and could not find anyone with the passport stamp.

From Phoenix, Arizona, Brophy College Preparatory - 2024

Here we have part of the full experience of 29 pilgrims in late May 2024. Starting in Azpeitia - Loyola and ending in Manresa, a narration that develops the spiritual challenges that this pilgrimage offers to these students of 16 and 17 years old.

« My advice is to have trust. It is always darkest before dawn. The hardest part of the walk will happen just before my eyes are opened.

I am learning that I am not alone. Many people go through the same things. In this case, pains, yawns, and hunger. I am grateful... »

Ignatian Way accompanying Saint Ignatius to Rome (1523 - 1556)

For the second time, a group of Ignatian pilgrims accept the challenge of uniting Spain and Italy, following in the footsteps of Ignatius of Loyola. Almost 300 km of road, discovering themselves, in the company of other pilgrims and counting on the Spiritual Exercises that bring them closer to God, step by step. Camino Ignaciano Spring 2023 - Verdú - Rome

Having just retired, there was a need to improve and strengthen self, and the way was suggested by longtime friends Jeanne and Jim Backes. The Holy Spirit worked through them as they encouraged my wife and me to join them on the Camino Ignaciano. Embarrassingly, although we knew of the Camino Santiago...

From Arizona to Manresa! Brophy Prep July 2023.

A large group of almost 30 pilgrims, walking with Saint Ignatius of Loyola, feeling his presence and experiencing a transformation that has already begun to bear fruit on the same pilgrimage.

The story in 10 moments:

1.- Today is the day in which we wanted to feel the origin of Ignacio's personality. This is his homeland. As a child he felt the humidity coming from the Urola River. He knew about the blacksmith's work. Iron, fire, hammer...
