

The Camino is inside you

I felt a sense of disappointment that it was over after so much anticipation for this experience. I had trained, planned, hoped and prayed for some sort of transformation, for my conversion. What kind of conversion I did not know, but I knew I was looking for something.

Keep reading here